Re: Class action against DBS - Update (Settlement)

Following previous reports on this matter, first reported on June 11, 2014, on June 6, 2019, Bezeq received an update from DBS Satellite Services (1998) Ltd. ("DBS") regarding the class action and the request to certify is as such against DBS in the matter of alleged installation of electricity-powered equipment (satellite dishes and other equipment) in condominiums without the consent of tenants, and charging for electricity both tenants that are customers of DBS and tenants who are not. On June 6, 2019, DBS reported that it reached a settlement with the petitioners to the cost of NIS 4 million to be paid by DBS. In the settlement, it was also established that DBS will act to inform future condominiums on the cost of electricity in the buildings and will allow them to disconnect their receiver equipment from the shared electricity source.

Sincerely,
Bezeq Israel Telecommunications Corporation Ltd.

Re: Class action against Bezeq - Update (Appeal, and Withdrawal)

Following previous reports on this matter, e.g., on April 23, 2018, regarding the motion to certify a class action, dated April 2018, alleging that Bezeq has sent spam advertisements using text messages and other means to customers, messages that include a link to Bezeq's website, and also regarding a similar class action petition dated March 2015 which Bezeq has motioned to appeal in January 2018 (the decision to certify such lawsuit as a class action), on June 6, 2019, the motion to appeal was accepted by the supreme court, as was the appeal, and it was agreed that a motion for withdrawal from the later motion for certification as class action would be filed as well.

Sincerely,
Bezeq Israel Telecommunications Corporation Ltd.
